

Kirton in Lindsey Military Base, Lincolnshire; from the north with the 3 large hangars and the "square" dominating the centre of the picture. Married quarters are bottom left with the grassed airfield beyond the hangars. Aerial photograph through the perspex canopy of one of the three battalion Bell Sioux helicopters.

Aerial photograph through the canopy of a Bell Sioux helicopter approaching the hangar housing Y and Z companies of the 1st. Battalion of the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers.

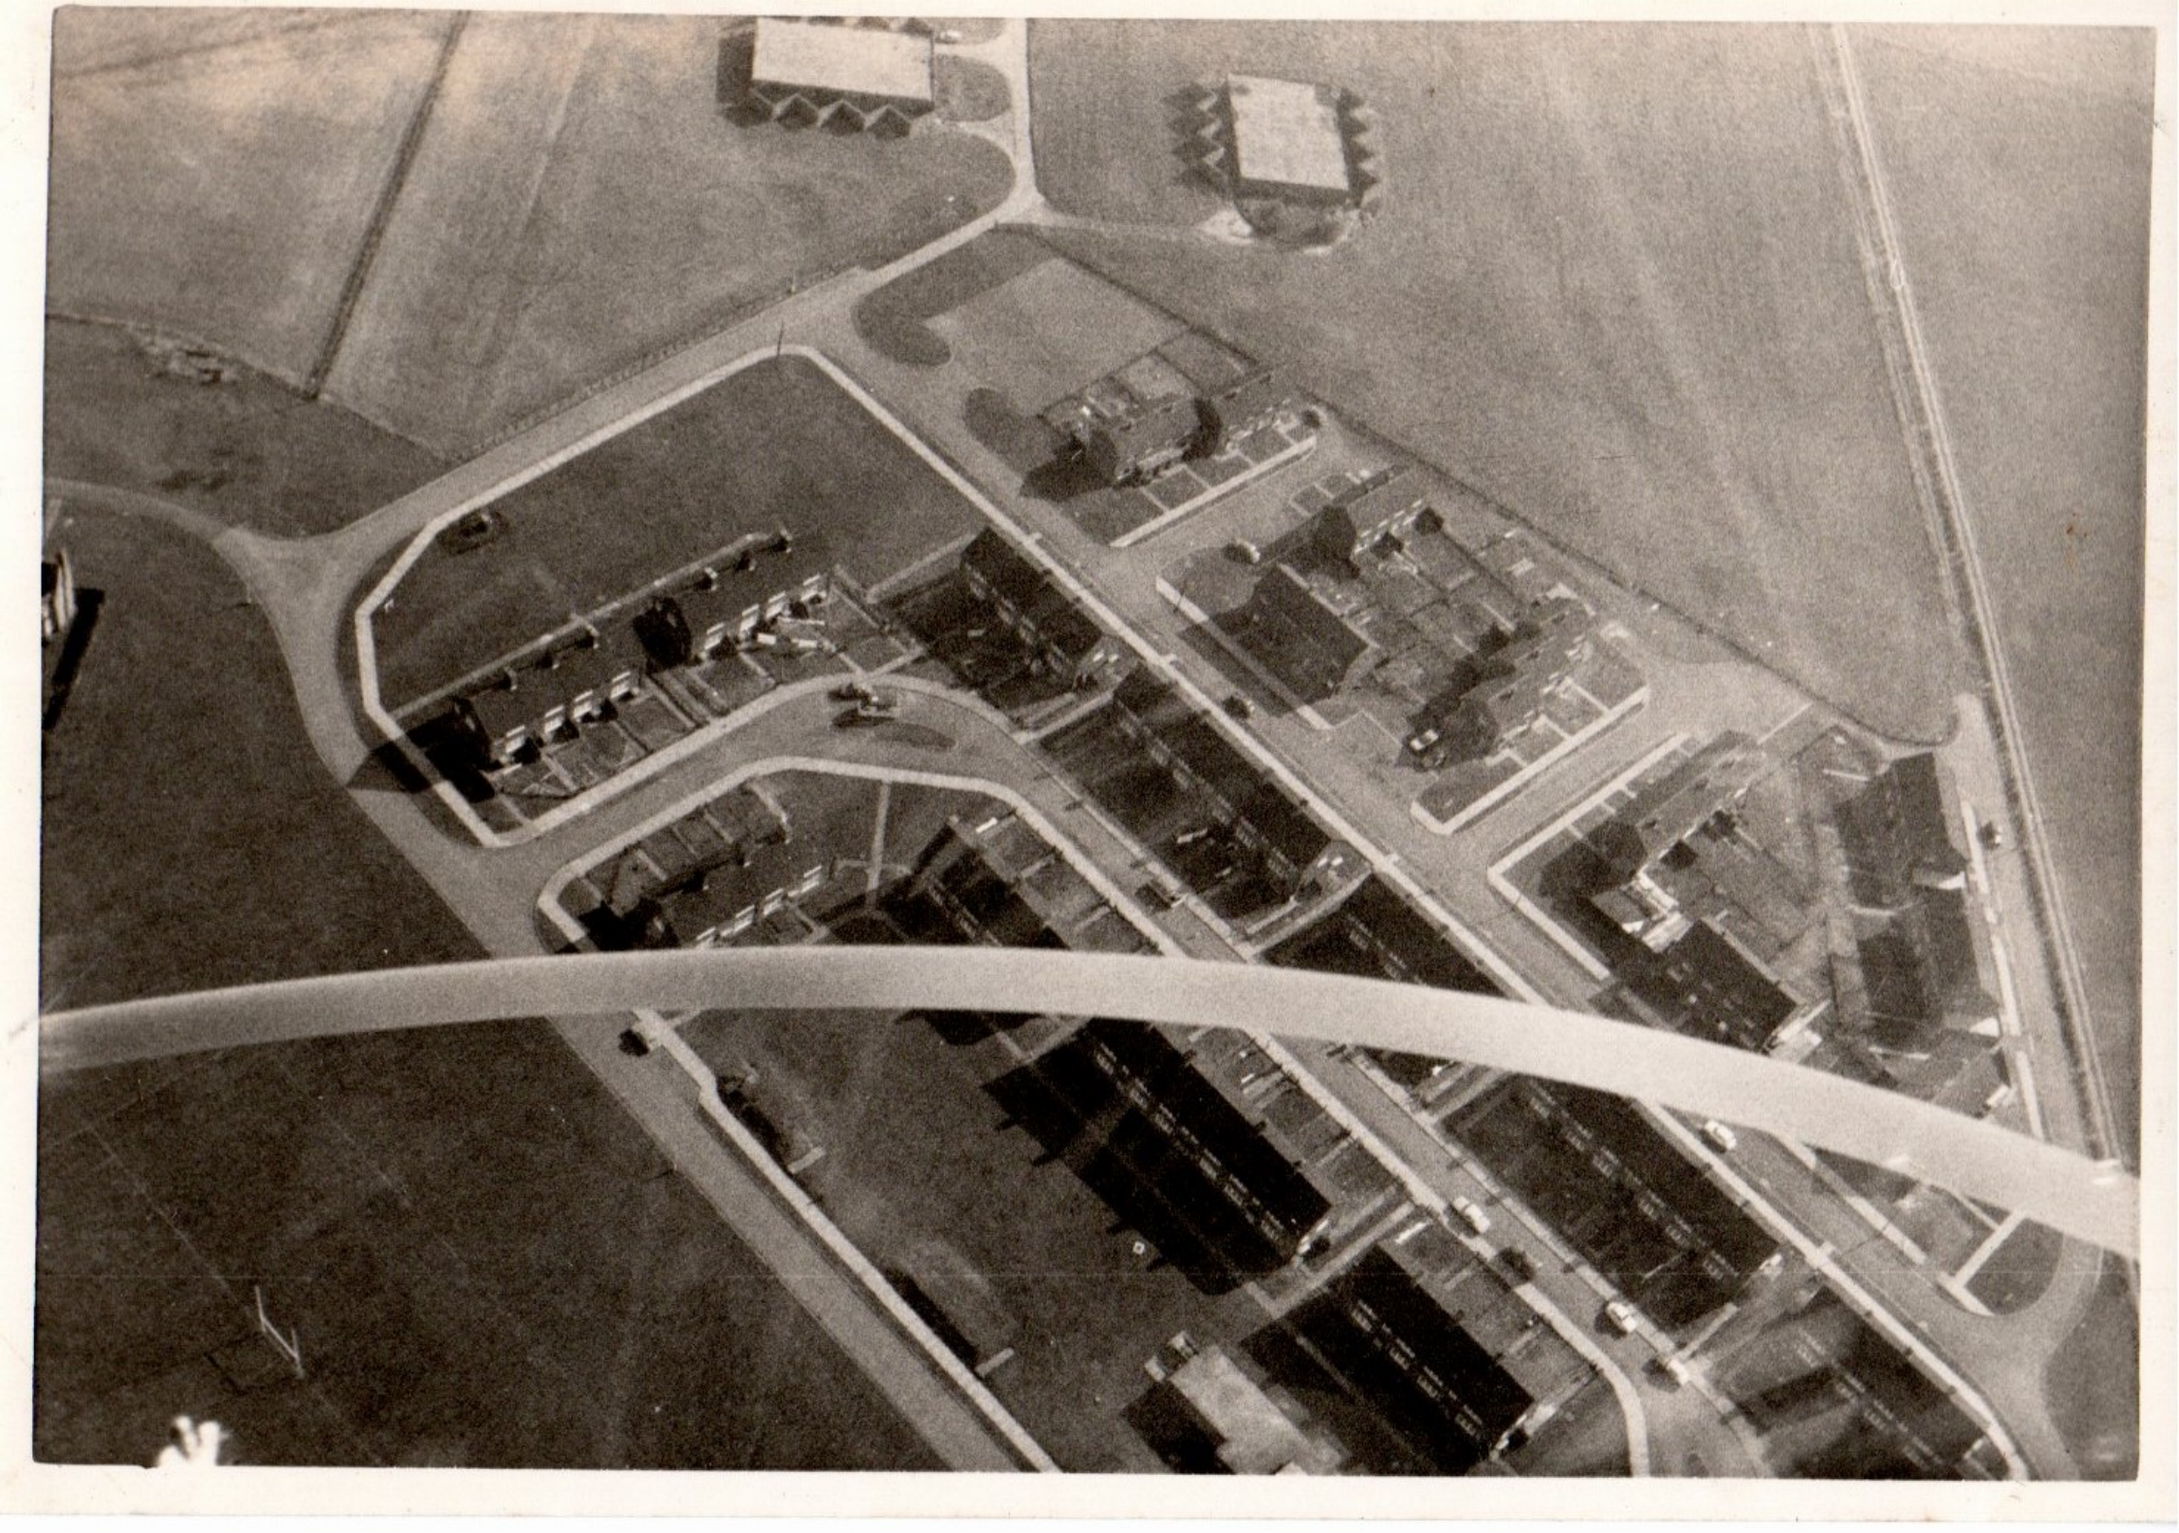

Aerial photograph of the hangars through the canopy of a Bell Sioux helicopter as it overflies part of the airfield used as a football field.

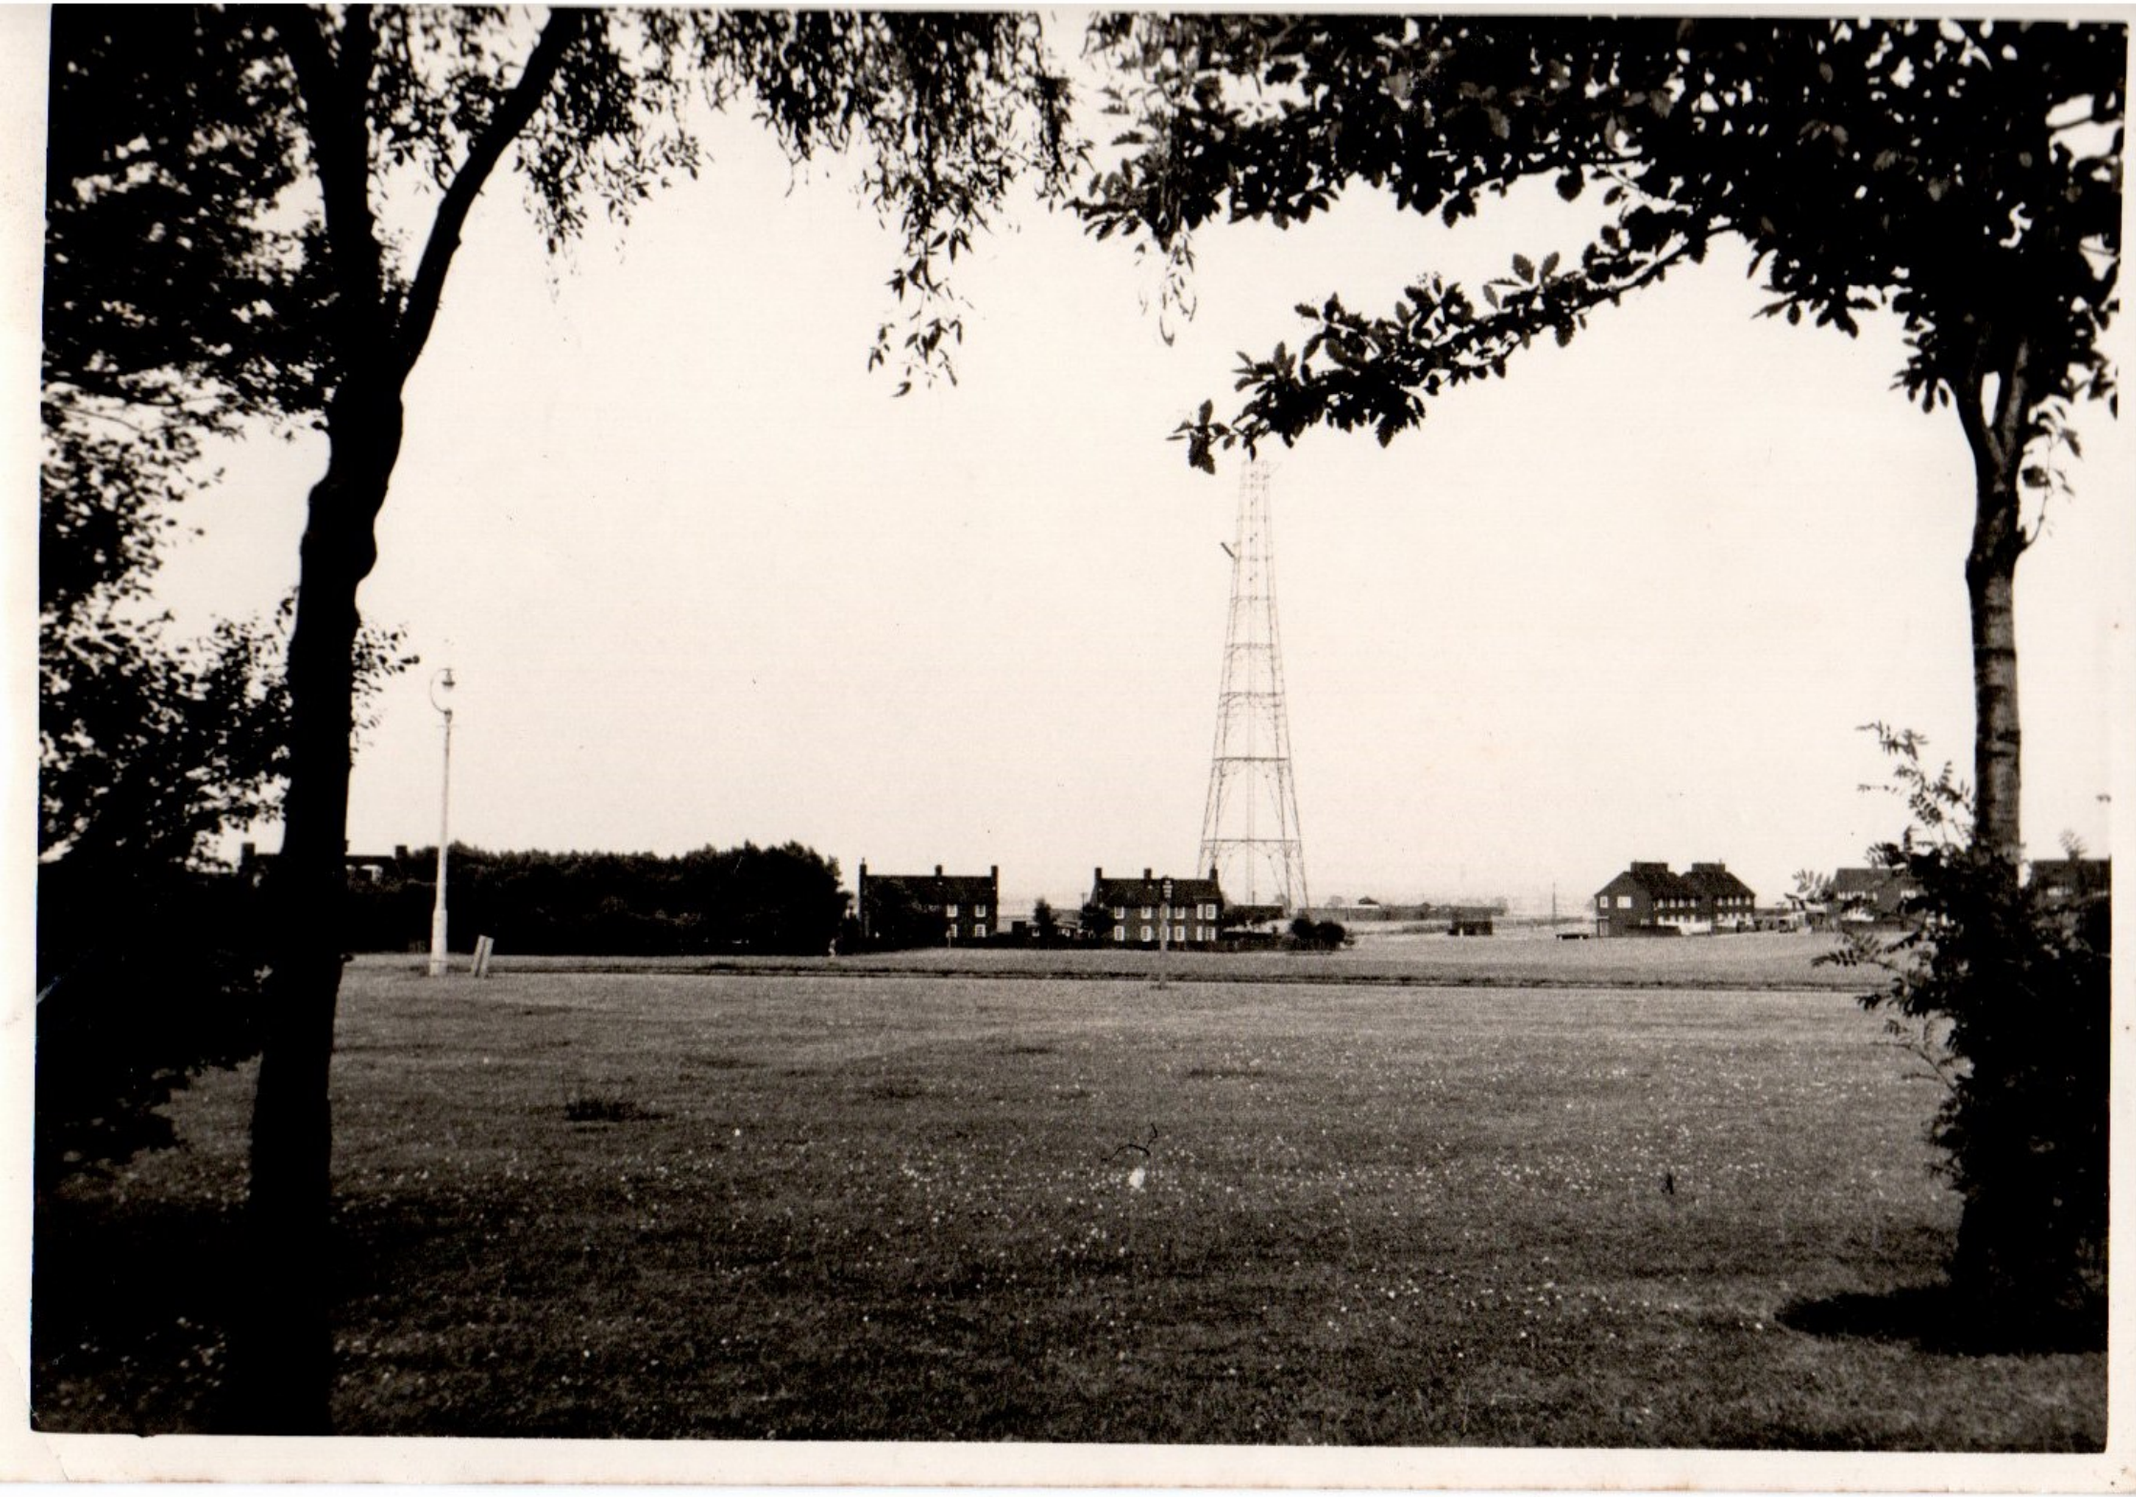

Aerial photograph through the canopy of a Bell Sioux helicopter overflying the perimeter road of the airfield used for driver training of the battalion's Armoured Personnel Carriers.

The Married Quarters through the perspex canopy of the Bell Sioux helicopter.

Married Quarters in front of an American communications tower.

Officer's Mess at Kirton in Lindsey occupied in 1968 by the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers.

Mess Dining Room.

Ante Room.

Entrance Hall.

Enlargement of the oil painting in the Entrance Hall depicting Fusilier Duffy earning his Distinguished Conduct Medal in Aden in 1967.

Z Company armoured personnel carriers awaiting troops for training.

Rest stop on the A1 during transit.

View of the A1 from a moving APC.

Muster Parade on the "Square" at Kirton in Lindsey with the Royal Nouthumberland Fusiliers.